Mr. Noe,
Secretary, Numismatic Society,
156th St. & Broadway, City.

Dear Mr. Noe:

In our Annual Report to the Legislature, in our account of the Pilgrim Tercentenary, we would like to mention the different medals which have been struck commemorative of the Tercentenary. We have descriptions of the Dutch medal and the United States half dollar. We also have material for the description of a medal made by Reed and Barton, which has a representation of the landing of the Pilgrims on one side and of the Mayflower on the other side. Were any other medals struck? If so, will you give us a few words about them?

In the New York Library exhibition there is a large bronze medal which seems to be an enlargement of the half-dollar design by Dallin. Can you tell me what that medal is?

The favor of your reply will be greatly appreciated by

Yours very truly,

E. A. Hall

Secretary.

Dear Mr. Hall:

In response to your letter of February 25th, the only additional medal to commemorate the Pilgrim Tercentenary of which I know is one issued by the Boston Numismatic Society. This is illustrated in the February Numismatist of this year, on page 55. In the January issue of the same periodical is information regarding the three sizes of the Dutch medal.

I am unable to identify the large bronze medal which you think an enlargement of the half-dollar designed by Dallin, but suspect that it may be his model, or a cast the full size of his model.

The Boston Public Library has issued a bibliography of material concerning the Tercentenary of which you can secure a copy from Mr. Horace L. Wheeler of their staff. I sent a copy to Dr. Kunz, but a direct application would be more satisfactory than to wait until he locates his copy.

Very truly yours,

Secretary
